BANNER SALE
PRICE IS $3100

Pennithorpe's Raleigh Believed to be Much Wanted Animal, Sells For Most Money.

CROWD AT WALKER AUCTION

Owner of Bull, Noble's Fenwick, Refuses $1,000 For Half Interest—Brings Only $700.

Brown-eyed, sleek-coated, blinking
Jerseys were the "headliners" at the Jersey Isle stock farm west of the city today, when A. P. Walker's seventh annual auction was held. The crowd at the sale today was above
the ordinary and is conceded to be larger than ever before. Many women from this city and from over the county were in attendance. The day was not marred by any accidents.

The prices at the sale were hardly up to the standard that has been set in former years. The highest price paid for an animal which had been placed under the hammer up to a late hour this afternoon was $3,100. This was paid by H. W. Claffin of Muske-go, Wisconsin, for Pennithorpe's Raleigh which was said to be the most wanted animal in the sale.

In previous years the highest price paid at the annual auction has been much higher than that of this year.
Last year a bull brought $9,000 while the year previous, one sold for $11,- 000, which is the banner price of the seven sales. It was thought that Pennithorpe's Raleigh would bring a good price, due to the fact that he is of the blood of Mabel's Raleigh,
which has proved to be popular with Jersey breeders.

It is a notable fact that daughters often brought more than mothers. A whole family of cattle was brought out at one time and sold in succession. Golden Marquis Bonita, the mother, sold for $230, while her daughter, Lily's Highview Queen brought $500, and her son, Flower of the West, $190. Two other members of the same family, Iron Duke's Lily and Duchess of the West sold for $160 and $180 respectively.

Noble's Fenwick, a highly rated bull, sold for only $700. He belonged to G. P. Middleton of Kentucky, and was placed in the sale with Mr.
Walker's consent. It was thought that the animal was one of the best in the sale. The owner was offered $1,000 for a half interest in the bull
only a few days ago and refused it.
The animal went to Ceylon Court
Farm at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin.

Mausers' Pennithorpe, closely related to the bull which brought $3,- 100, sold for the second highest price of the sale, which was $1,150. He went to Howard Willets, proprietor
of Gedney Farm at Great Barrington, N. Y.

Local buyers were not very common at the sale today, although several Rush county men bid on some of the younger animals. Ed Lowden was the only local purchaser. He bid Bonita's Combination, a young calf, off for $55.

If the sale is finished before darkness hovers over the Jersey Isle stock farm it will be remarkable, for
at three o'clock this afternoon about half of the total of one hundred and thirty-five head had been sold.

There were a great many buyers present. Many States in the Union were represented. It is believed that there was a larger representation of Jersey fanciers than at any previous sale.

Mr. Walker made his first trip to the Island of Jersey about ten years ago, for the purpose of importing Jersey cattle, and since that time has made regular trips every year or two.
During his absence from the Island

RETURNS MONEY TO POLICE

Italian Made Happy by Getting His $22 Back.

If an Italian was ever happy there was one here last night. The pocketbook containing $22, which was lost several days ago by one of the men
in the employ of the construction company, was returned to the police and given to the owner. The woman who found it turned the money over to the police. They say that the Italian was greatly pleased as he never expected to see the money
again and though not large, represented a fortune to him.

MODERN WOODMEN
TO DECORATE GRAVES

Will Strew Flowers at East Hill And Catholic Cemeteries Sunday Morning.

MEMORIAL DAY FOR THE LODGE

Burr Oak Camp No. 3548 M. W. of A., will decorate the graves of its deceased members next Sunday, it being the society's appointed Memorial day, and observed as such all over the United States and Canada. The decorating of the graves will be in the hands of Chief Forester George H. Rhulman and his team of Foresters. The graves in the Catholic and East Hill cemeteries will be strewn with flowers in the morning and the graves in Arlington cemetery in the afternoon. The Woodmen hall will be open at 8 a. m. Sunday and a committee will be there to receive any donations of flowers the members and their friends bring to the hall at that time. A liberal donation is requested so that there will be plenty of flowers
for the sacred occasion.

AUTOIST TAKES OFFENSE AT CHARGE

Enthusiasts Declare Machines Are Not as Damaging to Roads as Buggies and Wagons.

CITE THE INDIANAPOLIS PIKE

Local people who are well acquainted with the roads in Rush county by reason of their extensive travels over the county in automobiles, took offense at the story published in the Daily Republican yesterday, to the effect that the road between here and Arlington is in a bad condition as the result of automobiles traveling over it. Rushville people declare that it is not the automobiles which caused the road to be in such a condition but the fact that the road was not taken care of properly. They say that travelers have been dodging the same mud holes
there for months and that few repairs have been made on the road.

Auto enthusiasts declare that automobiles are not as hard on roads
as are other vehicles. They declare that, although the auto sucks the dust from the road, it serves to pack
the much traveled tracks rather than buggies, wagons and carriages that cut them. They say that it is the buggies, wagons, and carriages that
cut the roads up while the autos
come along and pack the road down.
They admit, however, that the machine does suck the dust and dirt off of the road.

LIFE HISTORY
IS LIKE NOVEL

Lincoln McConnell, Who Will Lecture
at the Chautauqua, Has Had Many Experiences.

ONCE A PRIVATE DETECTIVE

After Being Converted at Atlanta, Ga., He Went to Kansas City
as Evangelist.

It is likely that there is no number on the coming chautauqua program, which was announced recently and which will be given in a tent in the city park August 6 to 13 that has been received with more popular approval than the two lectures which will be given by Lincoln McConnell
on Tuesday afternoon and evening.
Mr. McConnell in his former lectures here has won a place in the hearts of Rushville audiences that scarcely any other platform man ever did.

Mr. McConnell's life history reads like a novel. He has come in contact with some of the worst conditions that exist in the larger cities of the United States and he knows life in its every phase. Acting as a private detective and city policeman,
he saw and heard many things and became acquainted with true conditions in the "under world." He is well informed on such subjects and for that reason is prepared to teach a lesson on a better life, lead away
from the things that serve to drag
the individual down to great depths.

He has been a substitute policeman and a city detective in Atlanta for some years, and, after being converted,
went to Kansas City, where he took up evangelistic work. He was operating on a large scale, with many helpers, when one day he received a telegram from Bishop Chandler, of Atlanta asking if he would take the pastorate of a new institutional church that was organizing in the heart of the city.

Dr. McConnell at once accepted, disbanded his force of evangelistic workers and started for Atlanta. He took up the church work there without a member. An old athletic clubhouse basement was engaged, where the services were held. Ten months later the new church had outgrown
the basement quarters, purchased a lot for $25,000 in the heart of the city, and had erected a tabernacle on it that would hold 1,800 people. The structure was filled at every service.
Dr. McConnell took over five hundred members into the church within two years and in that time had started a hospital, which is now the second largest in Atlanta. The congregation is now finishing a $250,000
church building on the lot first owned by the organization.

Dr. McConnell's early ambition was to become a lawyer, his father having been attorney-general of Tennessee. In the fifteen years he has been in evangelistic work he has preached seven thousand sermons and has had eighty thousand converts.

PROPERTY TAKEN FROM BARN

Fishing Tackle Valued at $15 Reported Missing.

A thief entered the barn of Levi Krull in North Morgan street sometime after four o'clock yesterday afternoon and took his fishing outfit, valued at about $15. The equipment was kept in a box and the robber
walked off with it. The outfit included several reels, some valuable lines
and several joint poles. Mr. Krull reported his loss to the police but as yet they have no clues.

POPULATION IS MORE THAN 5000

Church Census Shows That 5,060
People Are Now Residing in Rushville.

MAY HAVE MISSED SEVERAL

1404 Families Are Found in City—
Main Street Christian is the Largest Church.

As a result of the church census
being taken, the population of Rushville is shown to be 5,060. Due to the fact that the director of the census committee, the Rev. F. B. Stearns knows that a few houses in the city were missed, it is believed that the number of residents in the city will total 5,250. Fourteen hundred and four families have been found to be in the city, making the average number of three and two-thirds to each family.

The religious census which was taken under the direction of Evangelist F. B. Stearns of this city, reveals some startling facts. The census card used was originated and copyrighted by the Rev. Mr. Stearns, and bears on its face thirty-one questions
thus covering all phases of information that can be used by the churches and Sunday schools in carrying out their work.

Twenty-one committees of two
each were used in taking the census.
A. C. Brown, Edwin Farrer and Geo.
C. Wyatt rendered Mr. Stearns valuable assistance in tabulating the results. Some of the families were missed, and some were not at home
when the census takers called, but the information gathered is reliable and has been carefully tabulated.

One card was used for each family. It gives the street and number of the house, the name of the husband and wife, the number of children, age of children, number of boys and girls in the family, the number of other persons living in the house and

Rev. J. B. Meacham.

ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETE

Lodges Will March to Cemetery Next Sunday.

Arrangements have been completed for the Union Lodge Decoration Day services to be held Sunday afternoon. The orders will meet at the court house at one-thirty o'clock and will march to the cemetery going around through Jersey City. The line of march will be headed by the city band. In case of rain the exercises will be held in the tabernacle.

POCAHONTAS WILL BE HERE TOMORROW

Many Visitors Are Expected to Come
For District Meeting to be Held in Wigwam.

CREDIT IS DUE O. C. NORRIS

Daughters of Pocahontas from this district which includes ten counties in this section of the State, will gather here tomorrow for their annual meeting when they will be entertained by the members of Maioning Council, No. 36 of this city. The meeting will consume the entire day and part of the night. There are thirty-eight lodges in the district and it is expected that most of them will be represented.

A large class of candidates will be initiated by the degree staffs from Wheat Sheaf Council No. 257 of Shelbyville and Conowings Council,
No. 104 of Brookville. The delegates, visiting members and Great Chiefs
will be welcomed by O. C. Norris, Great Sachem and members of Mahoning Council. More credit is due Mr. Norris than any other person for working to make the meeting a success. The Great Chiefs and degree teams will be entertained at the Beer
House during their stay here.

DIVORCE HEARING
RECALLS WIFE HUNT

Superior Court Judge Decided Mr.
and Mrs. James H. Tarplee Shall Not Live Apart.

HE ONCE SEARCHED FOR HER

The divorce suit of Esther Tarplee against James H. Tarplee, of this county, which came up in superior court in Indianapolis yesterday, recalls a wife hunt in which the defendant engaged a few years ago. It will be remembered that Mrs. Tarplee disappeared and was gone for some time. Mr. Tarplee left no stone unturned to find Mrs. Tarplee.

The divorce was refused Mrs. Tar-plee because of the lack of evidence.
The court ordered that the husband shall pay his wife's attorney $100 for his work and that she pay the court costs. Not only was Mrs. Tarplee seeking a divorce but the husband was also, on a cross complaint. The cross complaint charged abandonment and was dismissed before the trial was started. Mrs. Tarplee charged abandonment and failure to provide. The suit was first filed here and taken to the superior court on a change of venue. Mrs. Tarplee also asked for $5,000 alimony.

Walter English has accepted a position with the I. & C. traction company as night ticket agent in Shelbyville.

DISCUSS NEEDS OF
SUNDAY SCHOOL

Representative Body of Workers Attends Annual Convention Held in U. P. Church Today.

A ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION

Addresses by R. A. Ogg of Indianapolis Are Appreciated—Music is Feature.

A representative body of Sunday school workers was in attendance at the annual meeting of the Rush County Sunday School Association,
which was held in the United Presbyterian church here today. A preparatory meeting was held last night.
The attendance was better than it has been in recent years.

This afternoon the closing session began promptly at 1:15 o'clock, when a round table discussion on the subject, "The New Graded Lessons" was held. The discussion was participated in by a number of experienced teachers and school workers and proved to be very helpful. Following that the main address of the afternoon was delivered by R. A. Ogg of Indianapolis on the subject, "The Intermediate Department of the Sunday School."

The morning session was as interesting as it was instructive. The meeting was opened with a discussion of the question, "Teachers Training," by Mr. Ogg. A conference was held after the work. J. C.
Cox of Carthage read a paper on "The Organized Class" in which he pointed out the needs of perfect organization. A conference was held following the reading of the paper.

Last night a good sized crowd heard Mr. Ogg deliver an address in which he exhorted everyone to fall into line and take part in the great organized Sunday school work. His speech was greatly appreciated.
The solo "When I See Him Face to Face," as sung by Miss Norma Smith was a feature of the musical program. A quintet composed of the Misses Helen Seudder, Ruth Aldridge, Alma Green, Dorothy Thomas and Norma Smith sang.

LEADER OF ICE BOX
THIEVES ARRESTED

Police Take Young Newman in Tow,
But Release Him After Lecture
by Mayor

YOUTHS DESTROY PROPERTY

A gang of young boys have been raiding refrigerators in Rushville for the past few months and have been committing many other misdemeanors that have caused the attention of the police to be called to them. Last night the fourteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Newman, who is believed to be one of the principal instigators in the crowd, was arrested by City Marshal Jesse Harlow. The boy was taken before Mayor Black,
given a good lecture and released.
The mayor told the youth that the city would not allow boys to destroy property at will and that after the next offense, they would be summarily dealt with. The gang of boys have been entering kitchens and stealing food from ice boxes and have committed many other depredations that have come to the ears of the police.

LIQUID CURES ECZEMA WHERE SALVE FAILS

In regard to skin diseases medical authorities are now agreed on this: Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid. WASH THE GERMS OUT. A simple wash: A compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other ingredients as combined in the D. D. D. Prescription, penetrates to the disease germs and destroys it, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done. A 25-cent trial bottle will start the cure, and give you instant relief.

* KISSING BUG HAS ARRIVED. *

Reports come from time to time from various cities of some mysterious "kissing bug" which annoys the women on the street at night by his osculatory inclinations. The bug has struck Rushville and may be found on the streets any night. Unlike his prototype of newspaper notoriety, he prefers the brilliantly lighted corners to the darker avenue. And there is a remedy for the Rushville variety that has not been resorted in connection with the best known variety of kissing bug. Cats will catch him and not only do they successfully pursue, but eat him.

The kissing bug, as it is termed by those versed in the love of insects probably because it is apt to fly into the face of the passerby, is more commonly known as the electric light bug. It appears annually about this time, and it is often found in great numbers around the are lights of cities and towns. He's here. He'll be here tonight. The immense size of the bug invariably attracts attention. The bugs are nearly two inches in length and almost half as great in breadth. It is not an uncommon sight to see several of them crawling about on the sidewalk in the vicinity of an are lamp.

The fondness which cats have for the electric light or kissing bug diet may be unfamiliar to some, but it is a fact that pussy has a marked taste for the big insects. Often these evenings as many as three or four cats may be seen lying in the light of an are, watching for the bugs. They pursue their novel prey in the same manner as any other, sometimes crawling along with twisted tail, preparing to jump upon the unsuspecting victim, and sometimes catching the bug in open chase. Pussy does not devour the bug entire as she does a mouse or bird, but eats only the fleshy parts, leaving the shell. Cats sometimes acquire considerable expertness in extracting the desirable portion of the bug, learning to do it almost in an instant, but being ready to capture the next bug that alights near.

The kissing bugs will be found about the lights practically all summer, and as long as they are here. Rushville cats who will indulge their epiurean inclinations to the utmost, while the more unfortunate kittens who have not learned the joys of the kissing bug will have a less varied die.

WANT ADS BRING RESULTS.

Buying Up-to-Date Goods

No woman likes to feel that she is buying old, shopworn, out-of-date goods.

She wants goods which are new and fresh, especially in articles of wear and ornamentation.

The store in which you trade largely determines what kind of goods you are buying.

If you trade in stores which do a small amount of business, you may rest assured that your merchant is always carrying goods which are two or three seasons out-of-date.

Such a merchant depends upon people coming to his store and searching through the stock to find out what they want.

The bright advertising merchant goes at it in another way.

He doesn't wait for people to dig through the stock to find his goods, but he uses space in the newspapers to tell all the people about his goods.

Advertising makes it easy for them to know about his wares, brings him immediate buyers and he sells his stock over and over again.

It doesn't get a chance to get stale—out-of-date.

Therefore, if you want to feel that the goods you are buying are right in style, quality and price, you should patronize the merchants who advertise.

JUNE WILL BE STORMY MONTH

Picnic Promoters and Airdome Managers Should Prepare to Furnish Umbrellas.

THAT'S WHAT HICKS HAS TO SAY

Predicts Lightning, Wind, Thunder And Some Very Trilling Cyclones.

According to the Hicks weather prognostications, the month of June is not to be a very pleasant time, and baseball managers, airdomes and picnic parties that are anticipating fine times during the month of June had better lay in a supply of umbrellas and rain coats.

The forecast says a regular storm period covers the first six days. The crisis of these storms will fall on and touching the 4th and 5th. A low barometer, high temperature and humidity may be put down as fore shadowing severe storms at this time. Rising barometer and change to fair and much colder weather will pass eastward over the country from the 6th to 9th.

A reactionary storm period will bring decided storm conditions on and touching the 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th. The full moon on the 11th falls at the central day of the annual magnetic and electric crisis. Within three days of sunset on the 11th, a maximum of magnetic and electrical storms will visit wide extreme of the earth, attended by phenomenal "earth currents," much volcanic unrest and violent seismic shakes.

A regular storm period extends from the 13th to the 17th, being at the crisis of the Mercury period and under full strain of the solstice and the Venus periods. Daily thunder storms with an excess of electricity, wind, rain and hail, may be expected. Change to very much cooler will follow about the 16th to 19th.

A reactionary storm period will make itself severely felt on and touching the 20th, 21st and 22d. This period is at the exact center of the summer solstice and great electrical manifestations will mark this period and in all this part of the month we may look for an excess of lightning all around the heavens, in early evenings and through the nights. This solstice lightning is very grand and awe-inspiring, but for the most part it is perfectly harmless. Of course the electrical bolts of an on-coming thunder storm are fraught with danger, but the noiseless, panoramic flashing all over the clouds, banked around the horizon these solstice evenings, is as harmless as moonshine—beautiful to behold and full of life and health to the vegetable kingdom as well as to all animate life.

A regular storm period is central on the 26th, the new moon falling on the same day. Storms of violent character should be apprehended. All storms during the last half of June will be erratic in character—will move in direction out of the ordinary, often doubling back over their tracks after they have supposedly passed off to the east. We believe there will be too much rain in June, for best agricultural interests, except in New England states, and the extreme southwestern sections. A marked seismic period is central on the 26th covering the 23d to 29th.

COMPELS A TEST OF THE NEW LAW

Appellate Court Puts It Up to Supreme Court.

AWAITING ACTION ON PETITION

The New Law Relating to the Transfer of Cases From the Appellate Court to the Supreme Court Is Still In Abeyance, the Supreme Court Not Yet Having Handed Down a Ruling on the Petition.

Indianapolis, June 1.—The appellate court has transferred three more cases, under the new jurisdiction act of 1911. This is the law which the clerk of the supreme court, J. Fred France, sought to have construed, he having filed a petition in the supreme court asking for instructions. Briefs were filed by a number of attorneys under the petition, both attacking and upholding the law. But the supreme court has not as yet handed down a ruling on the petition.

In the meantime the appellate court has been awaiting action on the petition, but has apparently concluded to accept the law and act under its provisions until there is some contrary ruling by the supreme court.

Some lawyers were expecting a decision on the France petition May 23, the first day of the term, while others said the constitutionality of the law could not be presented in such a manner, and that no decision could be rendered in the case.

The appellate court, by its action in transferring cases to the supreme court under the act of 1911, will compel the supreme court either to act under the law or to take some action concerning it.

BIG DITCH HALF DONE

Scott County Drainage Project Expected to Stop Annual Losses.

Scottsburg, Ind., June 1.—About one-half of the work on the Scott county canal, about three and one-half miles, is finished. The big steam dredge which is doing the work had to be dismantled this week in order to get the heavy equipment past the railroad bridges at Marshfield. The work of excavating the canal is attracting a great many. Scott county is building the canal to drain the vast areas of bottom swamp land which have heretofore been almost worthless from a farming standpoint because they are overflowed each year. Estimates on the damage done in Scott county alone in the last twenty years from this source amount to more than a million dollars.

Jackson county has now taken hold of a drainage proposition which is even larger than the one in Scott county, and which will affect several hundred thousand acres. A number of prominent farmers of Scott county have for some time been studying the methods followed in northern Indiana, where the lake bog lands have been drained, and the benefit which the drainage has been to that part of the state caused the movement for a drainage system in this county. The course of the canal shortens the course of the old water way from seventeen to seven miles.

OPTION ELECTION

Bloomington Votes to Return Saloons, Pendleton Stays Dry.

Indianapolis, June 1.—In Indiana local option elections Wednesday the city of Bloomington went wet by a majority of 23. Union township, Madison county, voted to a tie, each side casting 116 votes. Fall Creek, Stony Creek and Jackson townships, same county, voted dry. The town of Pendleton is in Fall Creek township. The wets had made a special effort to take over Pendleton, but were defeated by a majority of 128.

SOME PLAIN TALK FOR YOUNG GIRLS

Juvenile Court Lays Down Rules of Attire.

Cincinnati, June 1.—Hazel Arnold, aged fifteen, and Ida Thomas, fourteen, were brought before Judge John A. Caldwell of the juvenile court because they had been saucy to the police when officers objected to their alleged actions.

"Young girls like you must not wear rats and bangs and Grecian bands around the hair," said Judge Caldwell, criticising their appearance. "I propose to do all in my power to break up this kind of costuming by young girls—the kind of dressing that attracts undue attention of the men. It is one of the greatest causes of juvenile delinquency, and I do not see what any mother is thinking about to allow her daughter to get herself up in any such fashion."

"I believe in modest attire for young girls. It hurts me every time I go along the street and see a young girl in short dresses wearing fancy slippers and thin, fancy stockings with a slip of a dress and a rat or a Grecian band in her hair, or with her hair bobbed down over her forehead. A girl in a short dress should never wear a low-necked costume."

He continued the cases of the girls until Saturday for investigation.

IT SHOCKED THEM

Graduation Class Didn't Expect Hobson to Shed His Coat.

Anniston, Ala., June 1.—Because Congressman Richmond Pearson Hobson pulled off his coat while delivering the address to the graduation class of the Alabama Presbyterian college here, he was severely rebuked by Rev. J. G. Glass, president of the Noble Episcopal Institute for Young Women. President Glass had brought his girl students to hear Hobson, but when the congressman pulled off his coat, he called to his girls and led them out of the auditorium. President Glass says he did not think a gentleman would pull off his coat at a public gathering where ladies were present.

The weather was hot and Hobson suffered additional discomfort because of the strenuousness of his plea for a big navy to hold Japan in check.

Had Head Out of Window.

Louisville, Ky., June 1.—William Buck of Indianapolis, a Pennsylvania railroad conductor, was instantly killed when he leaned from his train at Fourteenth street and was struck on the head by a new city street sign.

Relief Column Reaches Fez.

Tangier, June 1.—The column under Colonel Gouraud escaped from the surrounding tribesmen after severe fighting, and has arrived at Fez.

Ballonist Seriously Hurt.

Marion, Ind., June 1.—Frank Crawford, twenty-eight years old, of Anderson, an aeronaut, who for two seasons has been making balloon ascensions and parachute leaps at Goldthwaite park, adjoining this city, suffered serious injury when scraped from the trapeze of his balloon by a tree, just as he was beginning an ascension from the park. He fell about sixty feet.

Woman Killed in Auto Wreck.

Bloomington, Ind., June 1.—Mrs. John Harrell, aged forty, of Harrodsburg, is dead of injuries received when an automobile went over a seventy-five-foot embankment near Harrodsburg. Miss Lillie Deckard suffered a broken arm and Mr. Harrell, Fred Deckard and Miss Lora Johnson escaped with painful bruises and cuts.

Lightning Killed Man in Woods.

Fortville, Ind., June 1.—Meredith Davis, aged sixty, a farmer living southwest of here, was struck and killed by lightning. He was alone in the woods at the time.

Another Victim of Lightning.

Madison, Ind., June 1.—John Wyatt, aged forty-five, was instantly killed by lightning. The barn of Frank McKean was struck by lightning and two horses were killed.

My Corns Don't Hurt A Bit.

Tired, Ailing, Swollen, Smelly, Sweaty Feet, Corns, Callouses and Bunions, TIZ Cures Right Off.

Say good-bye to your corns the very first time you use TIZ. You will never know you have a corn, bunion or callous, or sweaty, tired, swollen, aching feet any more. It's just wonderful the way the pain vanishes. Rub the corn—hammer it with your fist if you wish—no more pain after TIZ than if there had never been a blemish on your feet. Doesn't that sound good to you? Doesn't it? Then read this.

"The corns on either of my toes were as large as the tablets you make to cure them. To-day there is no sign of corns on either foot and no soreness. It's an up-to-date Godsend.—Sam. A. Hoover, Progress, N. C."

Just use TIZ. It's not like anything else for the purpose you ever heard of. It's the only foot remedy ever made which acts on the principle of drawing out all the poisonous exudations which cause sore feet. Powders and other remedies merely clog up the pores. TIZ cleans them out and keeps them clean. It works right off. You will feel better the very first time it's used. Use it a week and you can forget you ever had sore feet. There is nothing on earth that can compare with it. TIZ is for sale at all druggists, 25 cents per box, or direct, if you wish, from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

BIG FAMILIES.

An excessive number of children in a family is a crime from every point of view. It is a crime against the mother, the father, the older children and society in general. There is no honor in numbers merely, and in the countries where the birth rate is highest we find the lowest moral and physical types. No laboring man or moderately well to do business man should have more than two children. This would in ten years at the outside so change conditions in the slums of our great cities that the visitor of today would not recognize them then. Theologians may object to my statements, but when theology comes in at the door reason goes out of the window.—W. J. Robinson, President American Society of Medical Sociology.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

MAKING THE BEST OF BAD SITUATION

Commodore Benedict's Party Still Stranded.

Key West, Fla., June 1.—Despite the efforts of three tugs, the yacht Virginia, with E. C. Benedict and party of friends on board, is still stranded on Colorado reef on the north coast of Cuba. The yacht struck the reef last Sunday morning. It is in an easy position and seems uninjured. Benedict and his friends are still on board the yacht and all are well. They are making the best of the situation and hope that the yacht will soon be floated.

YOUTH AND CRIME

New York Boys Murder Companion For Small Sum of Money.

New York, June 1.—A little Italian boy, small for his fourteen years, sat in the Oak street police station and told dispassionately how early on the morning of Decoration day a thirteen-year-old boy, Kangelio Leone, shot little Johnny Mialo through the heart.

"Johnny stole $15 out of his mother's bank on a shelf," said the undersized Carmine Piombino, "and Fatty Leone wanted to get it. So while Fatty was in my house Tuesday morning, Fatty shot Johnny through the heart and took the money Johnny had left, $7.50. Then Fatty and me tied Johnny's body up and we shoved Johnny into a feed bag and me and Fatty carried Johnny down two flights of steps to our cellar and shoved him in a coal bin and covered the bag with oilcloth and nailed boards over the place the bin opens."

"Then Fatty gives me a quarter and my brother Joe—he's thirteen—another quarter, and Fatty goes out, buys a swell suit of clothes, and we all go to the moving picture shows."

"And what made you tell Fatty's mother and the police all about it and where to find Johnny's body?" the boy was asked.

"I was bustin' to tell it," Carmine answered. "I didn't like sleeping in our rooms with Johnny dead in the cellar."

Sought Ineffectual Refuge.

Columbus, Ind., June 1.—Benton Enoch, aged fifty, was killed by lightning. He was working in a field when a storm came up and sought refuge for himself and two horses under a shed in the barnyard. The stroke that killed him also killed the two horses and one of the animals fell on his body.

There is a good deal of romance and unreality in the benefits to be derived or anticipated from going away from home in summer, says the Shelbyville News. Too frequently the results are quite the opposite from those expected and desired, and when the vacation is over there is a conviction that a mistake was made in exchanging the known comforts of home for the uncertainties of a resort. Dr. Woodward, health officer of the District of Columbia, offers this sensible advice. "If the trip away from home," says the doctor, "means a visit to some place better than home, then all well and good. One should be certain, however, that place to which he plans to go is better than home before he makes his final arrangements."

This advice is based on the danger of exchanging the pure water of the home supply for one of bad or doubtful character, the difference in the quality of food, the comforts of the housing and a number of other things that enter into the daily life of human beings and have much to do with their health and happiness. One should think, too, of the comfort of his own bed and compares it with experience in strange beds with their hills and valleys and the unknown character and condition of the previous occupant, of the luxury of the negligee apparel that can be enjoyed at home as compared with appearing at the hotel of the cottage table in full uniform. Under no other circumstances should people who know what real comfort is to be induced to make the sacrifice they endorse for the sake of doing as other people do by exchanging a well ordered home for a cramped cottage or the circumscribed quarters of a hotel. And yet people do it and call it enjoyment.

EDITORIALETTES.

Lot papers made a call for June brides yesterday but we are going to be more conservative and issue the official call today.

This column is punker than usual today due to the fact that most people went to Walker's sale. We can't rell off good stuff (of any stuff good, if that suits you better) without an audience.

Papers say that two million gallons of beer was drunk in a large city one day recently which was an average of two quarts for every man, woman and child in the town. But the women and kids didn't get their share. They only got the effects.

They say that the gasoline smell has been common here in the last few days. It must have been because you have been cleaning off and filling that last summer's gasoline stove.

The "case" has evidently progressed pretty (beautiful if you prefer) for when the girl throws a fellow's watch away and breaks the crystal so that he can't tell the time to go home.

Canvassers Have Only Three Weeks to Raise $50,000 For the Earlham Fund.

TOTAL NOW STANDS AT $26,821

Effort Being Made to Get in Touch With Every Friend of College.

Twenty-one June days alone stand between Earlham college and freedom from debt for the first time in thirty years. The fund of $50,000, which will bring about Earlham's emancipation, stands today at $26,821, the total yesterday being $26,308.

On June 21, just three weeks off, the campaign to free Earlham from debt will be ended, but in the meantime there is much work to be done. Morton C. Pearson, chairman of the campaign committee, is spurring the field canvassers to greater efforts, and is getting in touch by letter with every friend of Earlham who can not be visited personally.

Chairman Pearson realizes the importance of getting in every dollar that can possibly be reached and he is leaving nothing undone.

"If there is anyone who has not received a personal invitation, either by solicitor or letter, to have a part in this movement, let him please consider this a personal appeal. If anyone has been missed, it is probably my fault, and I will try to correct it in this way. WILL M. SPARKS TALKS AT MEET

Addresses Methodist Ministerial Institute on Topic, "If I Were a Preacher."

TWENTY MINISTERS ATTEND

The Rev. V. W. Tevis, District Superintendent, Opened Annual Session With Address.

The Ministerial Institute of the Connersville district of the Methodist Episcopal church, which has been in session in Waldron, Shelby county, since Tuesday evening, convened at noon today. The meeting was begun with a session Tuesday night, at which the Rev. V. W. Tevis of this city, superintendent of the district, preached. Twenty ministers of the district attended, which included many from this county.

This morning the closing session was opened with a devotional exercise, led by the Rev. E. O. Thomas. A paper entitled "Conference Claimants" was read by Daniel Ryan and the discussion was led by U. G. Abbott. A paper on the subject, "Why do Not More Young Men Respond to the Call of the Ministry?" was read by the Rev. J. E. Fisher and the Rev. A. R. Jones, followed with a talk on the subject, "How Many More of them Can be Induced to Heed the Call?"

At ten o'clock an impoium was held when Will M. Sparks of this city talked on, "If I Were a Preacher." The Rev. J. E. Murr followed with an address on the subject, "If I Were a Layman." At eleven o'clock the reports of committees were heard and the closing devotional service was led by the Rev. J. T. Scull, Jr., of Shelbyville.

The devotional exercises Tuesday night were led by the Rev. J. W. Dashiell. The opening sermon was preached by Dr. V. W. Tevis. Dr. Tevis took as his subject, "Finding Life." He said that our life on earth should be one of service. We should be not like the sponge, but should give our work and service to our fellowmen. His sermon was greatly enjoyed by those present.

Yesterday's session began at eight o'clock with H. M. Elwyn in charge of the devotional service. This was followed by the organization and appointment of the various committees. The subject "Problems of the Country Church," by H. D. Sterrett was most interestingly discussed. The drift from the rural communities to the cities has been a great detriment to the country churches. Many farmers have their automobiles and now attend churches in the county seats, where formerly they attended the places of worship near their homes.

Dr. C. E. Bacon, formerly of Indianapolis, but now in charge of the Federated Movement, was present and gave a most interesting talk on the movement in the morning.

The concluding paper for the morning session, "The Minister's Relation to Civic Affairs," was given by the Rev. V. C. Hargitt.

Upon convening yesterday afternoon, the devotional service was led by the Rev. E. L. Wimmer. Under the head of "Extension of Christ's Kingdom," the Rev. G. B. Walls of Morristown, gave what he considered hindrances and C. N. Wilson told what he thought were helps. The discussion that followed, led by J. N. D. Huddleson was most interesting.

The Rev. C. S. Black of Glenwood gave a most instructive paper on "The Prayer Meeting." The discussion was led by Dr. George M. Smith of Shelbyville. The Rev. J. S. Sargeant, a former minister of the Shelbyville First church, was present in the afternoon and gave an interesting talk.

The afternoon's session was concluded with a paper on "The Sunday Evening Service," by the Rev. C. H. Pinnick. The discussion was led by the Rev. D. W. Denny.

The session last evening consisted of a devotional service led by the Rev. M. S. Taylor and a sermon by the Rev. J. J. Robinette.

STOCKHOLDERS WILL MEET

To Discuss Advisability of Raising Rents at Telephone Session.

For the purpose of discussing the financial condition of the company and the advisability of readjusting the telephone rents, a meeting of the stockholders of the Rushville Co-Operative Telephone Company will be held in the court house assembly room tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. It is hoped by the directors that a good number of the stockholders be present. The attendance at the annual meeting several weeks ago was very small. No prediction has been made as to whether or not the company will raise the rates.

Clear, white clothes are a sign that the housekeeper uses Red Cross Ball Blue. Large 2 oz. package 5 cents.

CALLIOPE ON AUTO
ATTRACTS CROWD

B. O. Tilden, President of American Sanitary Works, Here Today Enroute to Coast.

CAR WAS WELL EQUIPPED

Will Drive to California and Back to New York Making More Than Forty States.

A fifty-horse power Stoddard-Dayton automobile carrying B. O. Tilden, president of the American Sanitary Works, who left New York in April on a double transcontinental trip of more than 25,000 miles arrived here this morning from Indianapolis. The car was equipped with a miniature calliope and attracted considerable attention with their ragtime music. The key board is manipulated by the man in the front seat opposite the chauffeur.

The trip will continue to San Francisco and then after a trip to Honolulu, Tilden will drive back to New York through Canada. He is accompanied by his brother, J. M. Tilden, and John T. Seller.

Traveling on a carefully pre-arranged schedule, Tilden will meet and address organizations of architects, plumbers, contractors, and builders as well as civic societies and associations that are interested in the promotion of public health. From each of forty large trunk cities the motorists will make side trips of from one hundred to five hundred miles, completely webbing more than forty states.

Since the trip promises much for civic betterment and public health, Mayor Gaynor of New York, gave Tilden a letter of greeting to Mayor Fern of Honolulu, commending the plan.

For the difficult part of the trip in the extreme west, the party is well equipped. The big torpedo car carries a shovel, ax, crowbar, block and tackle, four hundred feet of rope, mud hooks, and a dozen other articles that may be necessary in the mountains and the gulches they will encounter. All of this, however, was so conveniently placed that no one would suspect the amount of equipment the car carried. Complete information and road data will be furnished to the Automobile Club of America.

AMUSEMENTS

The Vaudet will show two reels of pictures this evening. The Powers drama, "Hearts Under Oilskins" is a pathetic story of the north in which an interesting romance is portrayed. "The Ranch Raiders," a Bison drama, is a western story, that is typical of life on the plains. By request Leon Maxey will sing "All That I Ask is Love." Chester Worth has resigned as pianist and Miss Iva Brown has been employed to fill the vacancy.

The Star Grand Airdome will present three pictures tonight. The first is a Champion drama entitled "The Vindication of John." The second and third pictures are both Itala films. The second is entitled "Foolshead More Than Usual." It is a comedy put on by "Foolshead," the greatest moving picture comedian in the world. The third picture is entitled "Coto and the Flag." This is a unique comedy with oriental settings. Earl Robertson will sing "Up the Rickety Stairs."

Mrs. Lola Havens has moved her dressmaking establishment to the second floor of the Manzy company's store. The phone number is the same, 1673.

Card of Thanks.

Members of the Weeks family wish to thank all friends and neighbors for their assistance and consolation during their late bereavement. Especially do they desire to thank the members of the lodges.

SOCIETY NEWS

The L. E. C. Club met with Mrs. Nathan Horr at her home in West Third street this afternoon.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Edna M. Gordon, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Gordon to Clifford C. Poarch, the wedding to take place at the Gordon home in Spiceland on Monday evening, June 12.

Miss Hazel Wicker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wicker, and Arthur E. Waltz of New Palestine will be married at the Wicker home at Brookside this evening at eight o'clock. The ceremony will be performed by a New Palestine minister. Mr. and Mrs. Waltz will reside in New Palestine.

The marriage of Miss Nina May Ford of Rushville and Ernest J. Black, formerly a teacher in the schools of Connersville, was quietly celebrated at the home of the Rev. A. N. Marlatt, 503 Western avenue, at six o'clock Monday evening, says the Connersville News. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few near friends of the contracting parties, the ring service being used in connection with the marriage service of the Methodist Episcopal church. The bride was attended by Miss Anna Merrill of Rushville, and John W. Young of Rushville was the best man. Following the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served at the Marlatt home. Mr. and Mrs. Black left later in the evening for Muncie, where a new home is awaiting them. They will be at home to their friends after the first of July.

Both the bride and groom are widely known among the people of Connersville and Rushville. Mr. Black was a former DePauw University man and has been connected with the teaching force of Connersville for some years. The bride had been, up to the close of the year, a teacher in the Rushville schools. All their many friends wish them much true happiness.

KEITH OF THE BORDER

A TALE OF THE PLAINS

CHAPTER XIV.

The Landlady of the Occidental.

Keith had crossed at this point so frequently with cattle that, once having his bearings, the blackness of the night made very little difference. Nevertheless, in fear lest her pony might stumble over some irregularity, he gave his own rein to Neb, and went forward on foot, grasping firmly the tired animal's bit. It was a long stretch of sand and water extending from bank to bank, but the water was shallow, the only danger being that of straying off from the more solid bottom into quicksand. With a towering cottonwood as guide, oddly misshapen and standing out gauntly against the slightly lighter sky, the plainsman led on unhesitatingly, until they began to climb the rather sharp uplift of the north bank. Here there was a plain trail, pounded into smoothness by the hoofs of cavalry horses ridden down to water, and at the summit they emerged within fifty yards of the stables.

The few lights visible, some stationary, with others dancing about like will-o'-the-wisps, revealed imperfectly the contour of various buildings, but Keith turned sharply to the right, anxious to slip past without being challenged by a sentry. Beyond the brow of the bluff other lights now became visible, flickering here and there, marking where a straggling town had sprung up under the protection of the post—a town garish enough in the daylight, composed mostly of shacks and tents, but now with its deficiencies mercifully concealed by the enveloping darkness. The trail, easily followed, led directly along its single street, but Keith circled the outskirts through a wilderness of tin-cans and heaps of other debris, until he halted his charges beside the black shadow of the only two-story edifice in the place. This was the Occidental, the hospitality of which he had frequently tested.

A light streamed from out the front windows, but, uncertain who might be harbored within, Keith tapped gently at the back door. It was not opened immediately, and when it was finally shoved aside the merest crack, no glow of light revealed the darkened interior. The voice which spoke, however, was amply sufficient to identify its owner.

"Is that ye agin, Murphy, a playin' av yer dirty tricks?"

"No, Mrs. Murphy," he hastened to explain, "this is Keith—Jack Keith, of the 'Bar X.'"

"The Lord deliver us!" was the instant exclamation, the door opening wide. "They do be after tellin' me to-night av the trouble ye was in over at Carson, an' Oi tought maybe ye might turn up this way. It was a nate trick ye played on the loikes av 'em, Jack, but this is a dom poor place fer ye ter hide in. Bedad, there's a half-dozen in the parly now talkin' about it, wid a couple av officers from the fort. Is the nager wid ye?"

"Yes, but we have no intention of hidin' here. I'd rather take my chance in the open. The fact is, Kate, we started off for the 'Bar X.'"

"Av course, ye did; Oi was shure av it."

"But down on the Salt Fork we ran across a young girl whom Black Bart had inveigled down that way on a lie. We had a bit of a fight, and got her away from him. This is what brought us back here—to put the girl where

Not Salts, Oil or Pills But 'Cascarets'

No Odds How Sick Your Stomach;
How Hard Your Head Aches or How Bilious—Cascarets Make You Feel Great.

Cascarets act as a bowel tonic, not as an irritant. They are vegetable. Their action is natural. Their effect is the same as the effect of some foods. They are gentle; no griping. They are convenient; no waiting.

One old way was castor oil. The effect was to grease the bowels, and for a single day. Oil never causes the bowel muscles to act. Other ways were pills, salts and cathartics. The effect was the same as pepper in the nostrils. They flooded the bowels with fluid. Those fluids were digestive juices. And the waste today means a lack tomorrow.

We know that the method was wrong. That the after-effects only weakened the bowels. But we had no gentle lavative in the old days. So we waited as long as we could, then took a big dose of physic. The method today is to take one Cascaret at a time—just as soon as you need it. Then the bowels are always clean. They cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store.

she will be safe out of his clutches."

The door was wide open now, and Mrs. Murphy outside, her interest at fever heat.

"Ye had a foight wid Black Bart! Oh, ye devil! An' ye licked the dirty spalpane, an' got away wid his gyurl! Glory be! And would Oi take her? Well, Oi would. Niver doubt that, me bye. She may be the quane av Shaba, an' she may be a Digger Injun Squaw, but the loikes av him had better kape away from Kate Murphy. It's glad Oi am ter do it! Bring her in. Oi don't want ter hear no more."

"Just a word, Kate; I don't know whether she has any money or not, but I'll pay her bill, as soon as it is safe for me to come back."

"Oh, the devil take her bill. She'll have the best in the house, annyhow, an' Oi'm only hopin' that fellow will turn up huntin' her. Oi'd loike ter take one slap at the spalpane."

Fully convinced as to Mrs. Murphy's good-will, Keith slipped back into the darkness, and returned with the girl. Introductions were superfluous, as the mistress of the Occidental cared little regarding ceremony.

"Shure It's Safe It Is Yer Goin' Ter Be Here."

"An' is this you, my dear?" she burst out, endeavoring to curb her voice to secretive softness. "Shure, Jack Keith has told me all about it, an' it's safe it is yer goin' ter be here. Come on in; Oi'll give ye number forty-two, thet's next behind me own room, an' we'll go up the back sthairs. Hilp the young loidy, Jack, fer shure ye know the way."

She disappeared, evidently with some hospitable purpose in view, and Keith, clasping the girl's hand, undertook the delicate task of safely escorting her through the dark kitchen, and up the dimly remembered stairs. Only a word or two passed between them, but as they neared the second story a light suddenly streamed out through the opened door of a room at their left. Mrs. Murphy greeted them at the landing, and for the first time saw the girl's weary white face, her eyes filled with appeal, and the warm Irish heart responded instantly.

"Ye poor little lamb; it's the bid ye want, an' a dhrap o' whiskey. Jack Keith, why didn't ye tell me she was done up wid the hard ride? Here, honey, sit down in the rocker till Oi get ye a wee dhrink. It'll bring the roses back to the cheeks av ye." She was gone, bustling down the dark stairs, and the two were alone in the room, the girl looking up into his face, her head resting against the cushioned back of the chair. He thought he saw a glimmer of tears in the depths of her lash-shaded eyes, and her round white throat seemed to choke.

"You will be perfectly secure here," he said, soothingly, "and can remain as long as you please. Mrs. Murphy will guard you as though you were her own daughter. She is a bit rough, maybe, but a big-hearted woman, and despises Hawley. She nursed me once through a touch of typhoid—yes, by Jove," glancing about in sudden recognition, "and in this very room, too."

The girl's glance wandered over the plain, neat furnishings, and the rather pathetic attempts at decoration, yet with apparently no thought for them. "You—you have not told me where you were going."

He laughed, a little uneasily, as though he preferred to make light of the whole matter.

"Really, I have hardly decided, the world is so wide, and I had no reason to suppose you interested."

"But I am interested," resenting his tone of assumed indifference. "I would not want to feel that our acquaintance was to wholly end now."

"Do you really mean that?"

"Why should I not? You have been a real friend to me; I shall remember you always with a gratitude beyond words. I want you to know this, and that—that I shall ever wish to retain that friendship."

Keith struggled with himself, doubtful of what he had best say, swayed by unfamiliar emotions.

"You may be sure I shall never forget," he blurted forth, desperately, "and, if you really wish it, I'll certainly see you again."

"Then, I'll surely find a way. I don't know now which direction we will ride, but I'm not going very far until I clear up that murder out yonder on the trail; that is my particular job just now."

Before she could answer, Mrs. Murphy re-entered and forced her to drink the concoction prepared, the girl accepting with smiling protest. The landlady, empty glass in hand, swept her eyes about the room.

"Bedad, but the place looks better than iver Oi'd belaved, wid the gyurl Oi've got tandin' to it. She's that lazy she goes ter slape swapin' the flure. Jack, would ye moind hilpin' me move the bid; shure, it's rale mahogany, an' so heavy it breaks me back intirely to push it 'round."

He took hold willingly enough, and the two together ran the heavy contrivance across the room to the position selected. Once a leg caught in the rag carpet, and Keith lifted it out, bending low to get a firmer grip. Then he held out his hand to the girl.

"It is not going to be good-bye then, Miss Hope; I'll find you."

She smiled up into his eyes, much of the weariness gone from her face. "I am going to believe that," she answered, gladly, "because I want to."

Mrs. Murphy lingered until his steps sounded on the stairs, as he slowly felt his way down through the darkness.

"He do be a mighty foine bye, Jack Keith," she said, apparently addressing the side wall. "Oi wish Oi'd a knowed him whin Oi was a gyurl; shure, it's not Murphy me noime'd be now, Oi'm 'inkin'."

Left alone, the girl bowed her head on her hands, a hot tear stealing down through her fingers. As she glanced up again, something that glittered on the floor beside the bed caught her eyes. She stopped and picked it up, holding the trinket to the light, staring at it as though fascinated. It was the locket Keith had taken from the neck of the dead man at Cimmaron Crossing. Her nerveless fingers pressed the spring, and the painted face within looked up into her own, and still clasping it within her hand, she sank upon her knees, burying her face on the bed.

"Where did he get that?" her lips kept repeating. "Where did he ever get that?"

CHAPTER XV.

Again Christie Maclaire.

Keith possessed sufficient means for several months of idleness, and even if he had not, his reputation as a plains scout would insure him employment at any of the more important scattered army posts. Reliable men for such service were in demand. The restlessness of the various Indian tribes, made specially manifest by raids on the more advanced settlements, and extending over a constantly widening territory, required continuous interchange of communication between commanders of detachments. Bold and reckless spirits had flocked to the frontier in those days following the Civil War, yet all were not of the type to encourage confidence in military authorities. Keith had already frequently served in this capacity, and abundantly proved his worth under rigorous demands of both endurance and intelligence, and he could feel assured of permanent employment whenever desired. Not a few of the more prominent officers he had met personally during the late war—including Sheridan, to whom he had once borne a flag of truce—yet the spirit of the Confederacy still lingered in his heart; not in any feeling of either hatred or revenge, but in an unwillingness to serve the blue uniform, and a memory of antagonism which would not entirely disappear. He had surrendered at Appomattox, conquered, yet he could not quite adjust himself to becoming companion-in-arms with those against whom he had fought valiantly for four years. Some of the wounds of that conflict still smarted. A natural soldier, anxious to help the harassed settlers, eager enough to be actively employed, he still held aloof from army connections except as a volunteer in case of emergency.

Just now other considerations caused him to desire freedom. He had been accused of murder, imprisoned for it, and in order to escape, had been compelled to steal horses, the most heinous crime of the frontier. Not only for his own protection and safety must the truth of that occurrence, at the Cimmaron Crossing be made clear, but he also had now a personal affair with "Black Bart" Hawley to be permanently settled. They had already clashed twice, and Keith intended they should meet again.

Memory of the girl was still in his mind as he and Neb rode silently forth on the black prairie, leading the extra horse behind him. He endeavored to drive the recollection from his mind, so he might concentrate it upon plans for the future, but somehow she mysteriously wove her own personality into those plans, and he was ever seeing the pleading in her eyes, and listening to the soft Southern accent of her voice. Of late years he had been unaccustomed to association with women of high type, and there was that touch of the gentlewoman about this girl which had awakened deep interest. Of course he knew that in her case it was merely an inheritance of her past, and could not truly represent the present Christie Maclaire of the music halls. However fascinating she might be, she could not be worthy any serious consideration. In spite of his rough life the social spirit of the old South was implanted in his blood, and no woman of that class could hold him captive. Yet, some way, she refused to be banished or left behind. Even Neb must have been obsessed by a similar spirit, for he suddenly observed:

"Dat am sutt'ly a mighty fine gal, Massa Jack. I ain't seen nothin' to compare wid her since I quit ol' Virginia—deed I ain't."

Keith glanced back at his black satellite, barely able to distinguish the fellow's dim outlines.

"You think her a lady, then?" he questioned, giving thoughtless utterance to his own imagination.

"Deed I does!" the thick voice somewhat indignant. "I reck'n I knows de real quality when I sees it. I se' sociated wid quality white folks befo'."

"But, Neb, she's a singer in dance halls."

"I don't believe it, Massa Jack."

"Well, I wouldn't if I could help it. She don't seem like that kind, but I recognized her as soon as I got her face in the light. She was at the Gaiety in Independence, the last time

Across Its Face Was Plainly Written, "Miss Christie Maclaire."

I was there. Hawley knew her too, and called her by name."

Neb rubbed his eyes, and slapped his pony's flank, unable to answer, yet still unconvinced.

"I reck'n both ob yer might be mistook," he insisted doggedly.

"Not likely," and Keith's brief laugh was not altogether devoid of bitterness. "We both called her Christie Maclaire, and she didn't even deny the name; she was evidently not proud of it, but there was no denial that she was the girl."

"Dat wasn't like no name dat you called her when we was ridin'."

"No; she didn't approve of the other, and told me to call her Hope, but I reckon she's Christie Maclaire all right."

They rode on through the black, silent night as rapidly as their tired horses would consent to travel. Keith led directly across the open prairie, guiding his course by the stars, and purposely avoiding the trails, where some suspicious eye might mark their passage. His first object was to get safely away from the scattered settlements lying east of Carson City. Beyond their radius he could safely dispose of the horses they rode, disappear from view, and find time to develop future plans. As to the girl—well, he would keep his word with her, of course, and see her again sometime. There would be no difficulty about that, but otherwise she should retain no influence over him. She belonged rather to Hawley's class than his.

It was a lonely, tiresome ride, during which Neb made various efforts to talk, but finding his white companion uncommunicative, at last relapsed into rather sullen silence. The horses plodded on steadily, and when daylight finally dawned, the two men found themselves in a depression leading down to the Smoky River. Here they came to a water hole, where they could safely hide themselves and their stock. With both Indians and white men to be guarded against, they took all the necessary precautions, picketing the horses closely under the rock shadows, and not venturing upon building any fire. Neb threw himself on the turf and was instantly asleep, but Keith climbed the steep side of the gully, and made searching survey of the horizon. The wide arc to the south, east and west revealed nothing to his searching eyes, except the dull brown of the slightly rolling plains, with no life apparent save some distant grazing antelope, but to the north extended more broken country with a faint glimmer of water between the hills. Satisfied they were unobserved, he slid back again into the depression. As he turned to lie down he took hold of the saddle belonging to Hawley's horse. In the unbuckled holster his eye observed the glimmer of a bit of white paper. He drew it forth, and gazed at it unthinkingly. It was an envelope, robbed of its contents, evidently not sent through the mails, as it had not been stamped, but across its face was plainly written, "Miss Christie Maclaire." He stared at it, his lips firm set, his gray eyes darkening. If he possessed any doubts before as to her identity, they were all thoroughly dissipated now.

As he lay there, with head pillowed on the saddle, his body aching from fatigue yet totally unable to sleep, staring open-eyed into the blue of the sky, the girl they had left behind awoke from uneasy slumber, aroused by the entrance of Mrs. Murphy. For an instant she failed to comprehend her position, but the strong brogue of the energetic landlady broke in sharply:

"A bit av a cup av coffee fer ye, honey," she explained, crossing to the bed. "Shure an' there's nuthin' loike it when ye first wake up. Howly Mither, but it's toird 'nough ye do be lookin' yet."

"I haven't slept very well," the girl confessed, bringing her hand out from beneath the coverlet, the locket still tightly clasped in her finger. "See, I found this on the floor last night after you had gone down stairs."

"Ye did!" setting the coffee on a convenient chair, and reaching out for the trinket. "Let's have a look at it once. Angels av Hiven, if it isn't the same the ol' Ginerel was showin' me in the parly."

The other sat up suddenly, her white shoulders and rounded throat gleaming.

"The old General, you said? What General? When was he here?"

"Shure now, be aisy, honey, an' Oi'll tell ye all there is to it. It's not his name Oi know; maybe Oi niver heard till av it, but 'twas the 'Ginerel' they called him, all right. He was here maybe three days outfittin'—a noise spoken of gintlemin, wid a gray beard, an' on't he showed me the locket—be the powers, if it do be his, there's an openin' to it, an' a picter inside."

The girl touched the spring, revealing the face within, but her eyes were blinded with tears. The landlady looked at her in alarm.

"What is it, honey? What is it? Did you know him?"

The slender form swayed forward, shaken with sobs.

"He was my father, and—and this is my mother's picture which he always carried."

"Then what is your name?"

"Hope Waite."

Kate Murphy looked at the face half hidden in the bed-clothes. That was not the name which Keith had given her, but she had lived on the border too long to be inquisitive. The other lifted her head, flinging back her loosened hair with one hand.

"Mr. Keith dropped it," she exclaimed. "Where do you suppose he got it?"

Then she gave a quick, startled cry, her eyes opening wide in horror. "The Cimmaron Crossing, the murder at the Cimmaron Crossing! He—he told me about that; but he never showed me this—this. Do you—do you think—"

Her voice failed, but Kate Murphy gathered her into her arms.

"Cry here, honey," she said, as if to a child. "Shure an' Oi'm tellin' ye it niver was Jack Keith what did it—murder ain't his stoyle."

A HOPEFUL MESSAGE TO SCALP SUFFERERS AND MEN WHO'S HAIR IS TURNING

Dandruff now—bald later. The same is true of scalp diseases. In fact baldness is a scalp disease. The trouble with the greasy salves and lotions, the so-called dandruff and scalp cures you have tried so far is that they don't do anything but temporarily relieve the itching and make the dandruff so it doesn't fall until it's dried out again. Nothing can cure—really cure such troubles but a real scalp medicine that will kill the germs causing dandruff and scalp disease.

Learning from leading fellow druggists throughout America that they had found a whirlwind cure for dandruff, eczema and all diseases of the skin and scalp the F. E. Walcott Drug Store on proving to the laboratories compounding the treatment that it is the most prominent drug store in this city secured the agency for the remedy. This remedy is ZEMO, the clean, liquid preparation that kills the germ of disease and ZEMO SOAP to wash the scalp or skin clear and clean of the dandruff or scale and by its antiseptic qualities soothe and heal.

Sold and guaranteed by druggists everywhere and in Rushville by F. E. Walcott.

WILL COME BACK PROMISE OF DIAZ

If Danger Threatens Nation Old
Dictator Will Return.

THE LAST WORD ON HIS PEOPLE

"I Give You My Word of Honor," He Said, "That I Will Come Back at Any Time My Country is Involved
in Danger, and With You I'll Know How to Conquer Again," He Concluded.

Vera Cruz, June 1.—Porfirio Diaz began his exile from Mexico late last night with flowers in his path, even though bayonets surrounded him. The man who had builded and ruled an empire and who had been spurned in his old age by his people found the bitterness of his passing made smooth at the final moment.

Vera Cruz, never radical during the recent revolution, allowed itself to give Diaz a fitting godspeed. It honored more the memory of the Diaz
that was than the person of the gray-
headed old man who climbed the steps of the steamer Ypiranga. His cabin, which was that of the captain, was banked with exotic blossoms put there by fifty Vera Cruz women.

Promises to Come Back.

Diaz's final word to the nation was that he would come back if any danger threatened. This he promised the officers and soldiers of his little command who had defended him since he fled from the capital.

"I give you my word of honor," he said, "that I will come back at any time my country is involved in danger
and with you I'll know how to conquer
again."

Hours before Diaz came to the ship
the end of the pier was jammed with an orderly crowd. When the Diaz party arrived, the carriages, escorted by aides and cavalry, Diaz lifted his hat as the crowd cheered and the military bugles blew a fanfare. A German band on shipboard played the national Mexican anthem.

Diaz's passage through the crowd
on the pier was punctuated by hysterical "vivas." The guns at Santiago castle began the presidential salute.
Diaz put his hand to his heart and the crowd caught the meaning. Then Diaz disappeared from the view of his people. The ship will stop at Havana.

Madero Guest of Honor.

El Paso, Tex., June 1.—Francisco I.
Madero was the guest of honor last night at a banquet given him by El Pasos in the Toltec club. Tomorrow morning Madero will leave for Mexico City.

CAN'T DO ANYTHING

President Tells Negroes That Lynching Is Out of His Jurisdiction.

Washington, June 1.—A delegation of colored men who were received in the East room of the White House
presented a written petition to President Taft urging him to send a special message to congress to ask the enactment of a federal lynching law making the crime of lynching punishable by the federal government.

The petition declared that the United States is "rapidly becoming a hissing and a byword upon the lips of civilized people everywhere, and the very foundations of our government are being undermined," because of the practice of lynching. "The people in numerous communities of our beloved land," continued the petition, "are being fast transformed into hordes of thugs, outlaws and murderers."

The president explained that the jurisdiction of the state governments and that he was powerless to help them, though he deplored the laxness with which the laws against lynching were sometimes enforced.

Girls Leap to Safety.

Hartford, Conn., June 1.—Fifty of the girl inmates of the House of the Good Shepherd were on the fourth floor of the building last evening when a fire started. Before they could get to the stairways flames and smoke cut them off. The engine companies had no ladders to reach the fourth floor,
but they were supplied with life nets.
The firemen called to the girls to jump. By ones and twos they leaped to the nets and all escaped injury.

Run Over by His Own Wagon.

Auburn, Ind., June 1.—August Kuc-
kuck, who lived northwest of this city,
was run over by his own wagon and died shortly afterward. His team ran away and it is thought one of the horses kicked him. His head was crushed.

JUDGE E. H. GARY
Steel Corporation Head
Called Upon as Witness.

© 1911, by American Press Association.

STEEL HEAD CALLED ON TO TELL ABOUT IT

Stanley Committee Wants to Know What Gary Knows.

Washington, June 1.—Judge Elbert
H. Gary of the United States Steel corporation received a subpoena to testify before the Stanley committee today. He is expected to throw important light upon the affairs of the corporation.

The committee will continue its meetings here until the end of the present session of congress. It then intends to go to New York, Pittsburg
and Chicago and take testimony.
There probably will be no man of prominence in steel affairs or in any great banking institution or other line
of industry that is in any way connected with steel that will not eventually be examined.

DEMANDS AN INQUIRY

Pennsylvania Miners Ask Congress to Look Into Acts of Deputies.

Washington, June 1.—Francis Feehan, president of the mine workers'
union, startled the house committee on rules by statements in regard to conditions in the Westmoreland coal fields of Pennsylvania, where a strike has been in progress for a year. Feehan appeared before the committee in support of a bill introduced by Representative Wilson of Pennsylvania, calling for a congressional investigation of the situation.

Feehan told the committee that twenty miners had been killed by deputies since the strike began.
"Some of the men," he said, "were shot by deputies who followed them
to their homes."

Thrown From a Carriage.

Princeton, Ind., June 1.—Absalom
McClure, aged sixty-six, a wealthy farmer of Spurgeon, Ind., while visiting at Fort Branch, near here, was thrown from his carriage and died in a few hours.

Six Killed by Lightning.

London, June 1.—Six persons were killed by lightning at Epsom Downs in a terrific storm and downpour that ended Derby day.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

The independent steel companies
are said to be considering wage reductions.

Lightning set fire to the Royal Exchange at London, which for a time
was threatened with destruction.

Official announcement is made from the general offices of the Great Northern railway of the issue of $600,000, 000 in bonds.

The senate finance committee has agreed to vote in committee on next Wednesday afternoon on a report on the reciprocity bill.

Cake and ice cream are to be provided by the city of Ottawa for the Glidden tourists who are due to arrive there on June 29.

The customs revenue of Canada for the month of May was $6,953,354,
which is half a million greater than
in any previous month.

The broken cylinder of the caisson
about the wreck of the Maine has been repaired and the water inside the coffer dam will be pumped out on Saturday.

Edward Ellsworth Everhart, only son of Dr. Isaiah Everhart, the Scranton millionaire who died a few days ago leaving a will in which the son is virtually disinherited, will contest the document.

The architects of the country are organized in a combination which fixes and maintains certain prices for building plans, according to testimony elicited by the house committee investigating expenditures in the treasury department.

STORM TAKES DEADLY TOLL

Cleveland Helpless Under Flail
of 60-Mile Gale.

ALL OVER IN FIVE MINUTES

Sudden Storm Swept the City and Harbor, Claiming Ten Lives of Persons Caught Helpless on the Lake, and Doing Damage in the City and Along Shore Estimated at More Than a Million Dollars.

Cleveland, O., June 1.—Ten dead,
many missing, scores of injured and at least $1,000,000 property loss made
the trail left by a five-minute storm that ripped and tore its way through the northern half of Ohio.

Cleveland lay helpless under the flail of a sixty-mile gale that scattered the shipping in the harbor, took buildings with it in its fury and twisted
giant trees from their roots.

Seven were drowned in Lake Erie off Cleveland as the storm caught fishermen unawares, and imperiled the lives of yachtsmen and other people on the water. Three were drowned at Lorain, while more are missing both
there and at Cleveland.

Not one block of the city missed its mark of the wrecking gale. Showers of glass from broken windows splintered on the sidewalks and thousands of trees were snapped. Long sections of Euclid avenue, the street that, more than any other, gave Cleveland the name of Forest City, were piled high with fallen trunks. Trees were uprooted in parks and avenues.

Live wires, tangled in deadly coils
in the streets when the poles fell in the storm's wake, made many streets paths of perils. Most of those who were drowned were fishing in small boats on the lake when the storm broke. They were unable to get to shore in time, and their boats were swamped by the huge waves. Lifesavers and boathouse men made several daring rescues.

WILL QUERY ROOT

Former Secretary of State Called on
For Information.

Washington, June 1.—Senator Root has been asked to appear before the house committee on expenditures in the state department. The committee believes that Mr. Root, who was secretary of state in the Roosevelt administration, is in a position to throw light on two transactions recently directed to their attention. One of the questions concerning which the committee is seeking information relates to certain payments made to Dr. Jacob R. Hollender of Baltimore, who was retained by President Roosevelt to undertake the work of refunding the debt of the republic of San Domingo.
Dr. Hollender testified that for this service he received $100,000 from San Domingo and $41,000 from the United States. Mr. Root made an inquiry into the case and the committee wants to know what he found out.

Another transaction that the committee would like to discuss with Mr.
Root is that bearing on the purchase
by the state department of a portrait of Justice W. R. Day. Alfred Rosenthal of Philadelphia, who painted the portrait, testified that he received $850 for the work. Thomas Morrison, disbursing officer of the department,
told the committee that he had issued a voucher calling for the payment of $2,450 for the portrait. This voucher has disappeared from the files and the committee wants to know what became of the excess amount.

MANAGUANS EXCITED

Explosion in Fortress Creates Most Sensational Rumors.

Managua, Nicaragua, June 1.—The magazine in the fortress La Palma blew up, damaging the presidential palace and many public buildings. Nearly a score of soldiers were killed. There is the wildest excitement. Rumors everywhere are of a Liberalist plot aimed probably at the presidential palace.

Kentucky Bank Wrecker Paroled.

Owensboro, Ky., June 1.—T. S. Anderson, sentenced to eighteen months
in the penitentiary for wrecking a local bank of which he was president,
has been paroled after serving a year
because of ill health.

shows the church and Sunday school relationship, if any, of each member of every family.

Five hundred and four families are related to the Christian church; 377 to the Methodist; 143 to the First Presbyterian; 102 to the United Presbyterian; 111 to the Baptist churches of the city; 127 to Catholic and Christian Science; and 21 to the Salvation Army.

Twenty-six denominations and sects are represented in the city, and yet the stability and conservatism of Rushville people is shown by the fact that 98 per cent of the Christian people belong to six of the greater denominations. Nine hundred and six people of the city are reported as members of the Christian church, 67 of the Methodist, 571 of the Catholics, 440 Presbyterians, 217 Baptists, and 27 to the Salvation Army. The number outside of the Catholics and Christian Scientists, who report attending church is 2,180, and the number who do not attend is 2,309.

The whole number reported as attending Sunday school is 1359 and the number who do not attend is 3126. It is safe to say however, that the number reported as attending Sunday school and church would shrink very materially, if only those were counted who attend church and Sunday school with some degree of regularity.

Those reported as belonging to some church, including the Catholic, totals 2928 and those not belonging to any church are 2132. There are forty-five colored families in the city.

Below is shown the comparative number of families belonging to the different denominations and sects that are represented in the city.

- Methodist
- Presbyterian
- Catholic and Christian Science
- Baptist
- United Presbyterian
- Colored
- Salvation Army

Kryptok Lenses

Why Look Older Than
You Really Are

Double vision glasses need not not make one look older, or cause embarrassment by being conspicuous. Kryptok lenses are good looking. They have the great advantage of perfect vision for both distance and reading, coupled with the neat appearance of single-vision glasses. In no way do they suggest advancing years.

Over 200,000 people are now wearing Kryptok Lenses.

You are welcome to call at the hotel and see these perfect Far and near vision glasses.

BANNER SALE

he has a competent agent there in Mr. John Le Suer, who is always on the lookout for desirable animals. Mr. Walker's first sale was held in 1903, when he sold 93 head at an average of $210.00. His next sale was in 1906, when the average price was $334.00. The top price in that sale was $2,600.00, and another animal brought $950.00. In his 1907 sale the average price realized on 73 head was $639. Two animals in that sale brought $3,800.00 and $3,700.00. In 1908 there seemed to be a slump in the market. In that year he sold 68 head at an average of $338.00. The highest price ever realized up to this time was $11,000.00 at his 1909 sale, when he sold a bull at that price to Sheffield Farm, Glendale, Ohio. Last year he sold 61 head at an average of $513.41—the top price being $9,000.00 for a bull. In that sale seven bulls over a year old averaged $1,980.00, seventeen cows averaged $495 and nineteen heifers sold for an average of $215.53.

Since Mr. Walker has twice as many animals in his sale this year—over 130 head—it was expected that his sale this year would cap the climax.

The Island of Jersey from where this breed of cattle comes, lies about 35 miles from the coast of France, but belongs to England. It was a part of the French Duchy of Normandy but when William the Conqueror became the king of England it became a part of that kingdom. In all the wars that have since taken place between England and France, the English have been able to retain the Channel Islands, due no doubt for the most part to the loyalty of the inhabitants.

The Island contains about 29,000 acres, equal to about one and one-fourth of a surveyed government township in the United States, and only about 20,000 acres are arable.

The shores of the Island are rocky, with an occasional bay and landing place. Centuries ago the Island was subject to attacks and ravages by pirates, and the inhabitants built stone walls to guard the landing places, and these walls appear to have been gradually extended on both sides of the narrow highways into the interior. Many of these roads are excavated and are lower than the adjacent land, with a retaining wall on each side. Hedges and shade trees have been planted just inside the walls, and to get a good view of the farms it is advisable to ride on the top of a tally-ho. The farms are small, from three to forty acres. A fifty-acre farm is rare. The farm buildings are made with quarried stone and are substantial and comfortable structures. The surroundings are adorned with shrubbery and flowers. The whole Island has an appearance of plenty and contentment anywhere.

BANQUET WAS BIG SUCCESS

Cattle Fanciers Gather at Windsor Hotel Last Night.

The annual banquet given last night by A. P. Walker at the Windsor Hotel for the cattle fanciers, who were here for his sale, was attended by about eighty-five guests. The banquet was a great success and the entertainment put up by Mr. Walker was of the highest order. Following the dinner a musical program was given by the Misses Hazle Lytle, Hazel Cox, Georgia Wyatt and Norma Smith. Miss Jean Bishop presided at the piano. One of the hits of the evening was a parody on "Casey Jones" in which the name of Mr. Walker was used in place of the "famous" engineer.
